

My perfect Little World

Why would you decide to leave me claire?
In my small world where everything is cruel and unfair?
I regretted my actions and in public I pleaded
Because I couldn't lose you, you were the one that I needed
I've been losing my sanity because i've always been mistreated
And i'm sorry if i hurt your feelings, you know I didn't mean it

I've been going through a lot of struggles with my life at home
Me and dad have been depressed ever since mom passed away
I stay in my bedroom while im angry and alone
While my father drinks all of his sorrows away

I've lost all my happiness, all I feel is wrath and pain
I'm crying my heart out and I wipe the tears away
One by one my friends leave me betrayed
But you, Clare, you hurt me so badly when you left me that day

In my destroyed, dark world you brought me happiness and light
But I was still so hurt claire, I clearly wasn't alright
I needed someone who could bring joy and hope into my life
A girl who would become my girlfriend, and in the future, my wife
But you left me behind, you knew that wasn't fair
You knew I was suffering, how could you leave me like this claire?

You left me behind in the dust
With all of your unfair reasons
Now I have nobody that I can trust
And i'm alone with my demons

Im angry at the world, im angry with my life
I just want to walk to the kitchen and end it all with a knife
Why am I going through all of this tourture? None of this is fair
And why are so many people pretending to be unaware?
They all know about my mother and how were handling her death
And they still outcasted me while I was helpless and depressed

Do you know how that feels claire?
To be abandoned by the ones that you called your friends

Well i'm tired of all this unfair treatment claire
I think it's time for some revenge

You left me pleading at prom
“Please don't leave me, let me make things right!”
But the next time that I see you in school
I will have you begging me to spare your life

This world is cruel claire, it's dangerous and impolite
But i'll change that, I have a plan that i'll start setting up tonight
If you loved me at all, then you should at least know this, right?
I'm not one to lose without putting up a fight.

My world is dark claire, its darker than night
But i'll fix that claire, i'll make my own light
I'll make a perfect world claire, where i'm happy and free
A world where no one would dare betray me

And for my ex and all of my friends that left me behind
You won't be needed in my perfect world, so it looks like it's time to die
It's unfortunate that your journey has already reached its end
And you all would have been fine if you just stayed as my friends

When we were dating Claire, I always told you didnt I?
“I'll show the world, And they will never forget me.”
You might have been thinking “What's that supposed to mean, Ty?”
But what I meant is as clear as day now, wouldn't you agree?

But I guess that's something that you guys just couldn't comprehend
And to think that I thought you guys were actually my friends
I took my loaded gun and aimed it straight at your heads
Then I pull the trigger, “Bang Bang, you're dead.”